The Indian Pharmacopoeia Commission (IPC) signed three Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) to improve medicine safety, quality standards, and training.

These MoUs were signed in the state of Goa under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The IPC signed agreements with:

Why This Is Important

Improving Medicine Safety: The MoUs aim to make medicines safer and improve quality checks. They focus on strengthening drug safety systems across healthcare facilities.

Better Reporting of Drug Issues: A key step is to improve reporting of adverse drug reactions (ADRs) so that problems with medicines can be tracked and addressed.
