Karnataka planning to establish permanent State water commission

Published On: 03-11-2025

Karnataka is planning to establish a permanent water commission comprising technical experts on the lines of the Central Water Commission, to recommend to the State government measures on water security and on matters of water disputes.

About Central Water Commission:

Established in 1945, Central Water Commission (CWC) works as an advisory body to the Government of India on matters relating to water resources development and management.

Headquarter of CWC: New Delhi

It is an attached office of the Ministry of Jal Shakti (Department of Water Resources, River Development & Ganga Rejuvenation).

CWC deals with only surface water. Central Groundwater Board (CGWB) deals with groundwater.

The work of the Commission is divided among 3 wings namely, Designs and Research (D&R) Wing, River Management (RM) Wing and Water Planning and Projects (WP&P) Wing.
