Published On: 04-12-2024

Context:

- The Ratapani Wildlife Sanctuary has been officially declared as the 8th Tiger Reserve in Madhya Pradesh.
- The state now has eight tiger reserves, with Kanha, Satpura, Bandhavgarh, Pench, Sanjay Dubri, Panna, and Veerangana Durgavati being the other reserves.

About Ratapani Wildlife Sanctuary:

- Location: Situated in the Raisen and Sehore districts of Madhya Pradesh.
- Major Sites:
- Bhimbetka Rock Shelters, a World Heritage Site.
- Other significant sites include Ginnourgarh Fort, POW camp, Keri Mahadeo, and Jholiyapur Dam.
- Flora and Fauna:
- The sanctuary contains dry deciduous and moist deciduous forests, with 55% of the area covered by teak trees.
- Major Wildlife:
- Tigers, Leopards, Sloth Bears, Hyenas, Spotted Deer, Sambar Deer, among others.

Process for Declaring a Tiger Reserve in India:

1. Proposal Submission: The state government submits a proposal for the declaration of a tiger reserve.
2. In-principle Approval: The National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) provides in-principle approval and solicits detailed proposals.
3. Due Diligence: The NTCA conducts thorough evaluations.
4. Final Notification: After recommendations from the NTCA, the state government notifies the area as a Tiger Reserve.

Indian Government's Efforts to Protect Tigers:

1. Project Tiger:

- An ongoing Centrally Sponsored Scheme by the Ministry of Environment, Forests, and Climate Change to assist tiger states in conservation efforts.

1. Conservation Assured Tiger Standards (CA|TS):

- As of December 2023, 23 tiger reserves in India have received CA|TS accreditation, which ensures high standards of tiger conservation.

1. International Big Cat Alliance (IBCA):
