PM unveils 'Statue of Peace' to mark 151st Birth Anniversary celebrations of Jainacharya Shree Vijay Vallabh Surishwar Ji Maharaj.

Acharya Shree Vijay Vallabh Surishwar Ji Maharaj is a jain saint, who lived during 1870-1954.

He led an austere life, working selflessly and dedicatedly to spread the message of Lord Mahavira.

He was a disciple of Vijayanand Suri. He was the founder of Shri Parshwanath Jain Vidyalaya in Pali district of Rajasthan.

He also worked relentlessly for the welfare of the masses, spread of education and eradication of social evils.

He had wrote inspiring literature such as poetry, essays, devotional hymns and stavans.

He also gave active support to the freedom movement and the cause of the swadeshi.

The Jains are one of the six centrally notified minorities in India. The other five are Buddhists, Muslims, Christians, Sikhs and Parsis.

The Jain acharya established many institutions for girl children, and brought women to the mainstream.

With his inspiration, more than 50 educational institutions of eminence, including colleges, schools and study centres, are operational across several states.

Recently to commemorate his 151st birth anniversary celebrations union government has unveiled the "Statue of Peace" in Rajasthan.

The 151 inch tall statue has been made from Ashtadhatu(octo-alloy) i.e. 8 metals, with Copper being the major constituent.

The alloy is made of metals such as gold, copper, silver, tin, zinc, iron, tin and antimony (or mercury). The metals are mixed in equal proportions to create the idol.
